

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

The President addressed the Senate as follows:

Pursuant to the mandate of the Constitution of the State of New York and by virtue of the office of Lieutenant-Governor, the honor of serving as President of the Senate has been conferred upon me and it is with a feeling of profound pleasure that I enter upon the discharge of my duties.

It has not been my privilege to serve in this body, but as a member of a co-ordinate branch of the Legislature in the Session of 1903 and extending over a period of four years, I have had the good fortune to observe much of the work of the Senate and to cultivate a personal acquaintance with many of the present Senators.

A comparison of the branches of State government of to-day with those of the past decade brings one to a quick realization of the many new forms of governmental activities and the tremendous growth and development of the departments which then existed.

The constantly increasing demands have so broadened our functions as to emphasize the close relationship between laws and the progress of education, the improvement of morals, the protection of health and the safeguarding of life.

Our people have awakened to the importance of scientific agriculture and the betterment of conditions surrounding labor.

We are alive to the possibilities of permanently stimulating the industrial and commercial growth of our State by the improvement of the means of transportation and the practical utilization of our natural resources.

The tendency to bring government into closer touch with matters affecting the welfare, prosperity and happiness of the people has resulted in a closer study of public affairs and more exacting demands by the public of their representatives.

It is but natural therefore that the problems and responsibilities of the Senate have multiplied with the intervening years.

I congratulate you upon having the opportunity of serving your constituents and this great commonwealth at a time when through the application of your wisdom, experience, talents and good judgment so much can be accomplished for the permanent benefit of the State.

I congratulate the State in that its interests are to have the attention of men so well fitted and equipped to assume and discharge these great responsibilities.

It will be my aim to preside with fairness and impartiality at all times, with a view to facilitating the performance of your arduous work and from assurance which I have already received, I know I can rely upon your co-operation in the performance of my duties.

Whereas, In the course of time, great diversity has come about in the activities of the State and in the agencies for performing them, executive duties having been scattered among many boards and officers so that authority is dispersed.

Whereas, Various incompatible powers and duties have been laid upon officers established for other purposes until they have been diverted from their primary tasks.

Whereas, It appears that the rapid increase in State expenditures has been in considerable measure due to these conditions; and

Whereas, It is believed that there should be one civil administration in all parts duly co-ordinated and subordinated to the chief executive, that the appropriations required for the civil government can best be considered by the Legislature after the needs have been studied and formulated with care and diligence by the administration, and that the public funds will be spent more profitably if regard is had solely to merit in appointments; and

Whereas, The platforms of both the Republican and Democratic parties have been declared in favor of the so-called short ballot and for a constitutional amendment whereby certain State officers now elective shall be made appointive: Therefore, to the end that unity may be established in the administration, that efficiency may be promoted in the service and that economy may be secured in appropriations; be it

Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That a joint committee, consisting of three members of the Senate, to be appointed by the President of the Senate, and five members of the Assembly, to be appointed by the Speaker of the Assembly, and three members to be appointed by the Governor of the State of New York, be appointed to examine into the civil administration of the State of New York and report to the 1916 Legislature of the State of New York on or before February, 1916, a bill for reorganizing the civil administration of the State of New York; and be it further

Resolved, That said committee is authorized to sit after the adjournment of the Legislature and outside of the city of Albany, and is hereby authorized and empowered to subpoena and enforce the attendance of witnesses, including public officers and public employees, and to require the production of books and papers, including any public record or document of the city or State of New York, or of any of its officers and departments, to administer oaths, to employ counsel, a stenographer, an expert accountant and such other employees as may be necessary for the purpose of the investigation; and the actual and necessary expenses of the committee in carrying out the provisions of this resolution, not to exceed $10,000, shall be paid from the funds appropriated by the Legislature for the contingent expenses of said Legislature.

Speaker of the Assembly, to investigate and examine into the organization of the Public Service Commissions of the first and second districts, and the administration of the functions of such Commissions, with a view to ascertaining what changes if any in such organization and administration, or either, is advisable in the interest of the public welfare and the efficiency of such Commissions. Such committee shall make its report to the Legislature thereon as speedily as possible and may recommend the enactment of such laws, if any, as the committee may deem proper; and it is further

Resolved, That such committee is hereby authorized to choose from its members a chairman and to sit within and outside the city of Albany, to subpoena and compel the attendance of witnesses, including public officers and employees, and to require the production of books and papers, including any public record or document pertaining to the subject of the investigation, to take and hear proofs and testimony, and to have all the powers of a legislative committee as provided by the Legislative Law, including the adoption of rules for the conduct of its proceedings. Such committee may employ a secretary, counsel and such other assistants as may be necessary for the purpose of the investigation; and it is further

Resolved, That the sum of five thousand dollars, or so much thereof as may be necessary, shall be paid from the funds appropriated for contingent expenses of the Legislature, by the Treasurer on the warrant of the Comptroller upon the certificate of the chairman of such committee for the expenses of such committee and its investigation.

Whereas, The Smith-Burnett bill is detrimental to the welfare of the United States, in that it creates an aristocracy of mind and excludes men of sound body who are well disposed towards American institutions, and who are needed for the development of the nation, which is upon the brink of a great era of industrial prosperity; that it destroys the spirit of American equality, in that it guarantees special favors to a literary class; that the said bill inflicts a penalty upon aliens who may have desired to acquire literary attainments, but who were denied such opportunity by the governments of their native land or by other circumstances over which they had no control; that the said bill is un-American in that it denies admission to aliens who seek release from religious persecution if they are unable to prove that they seek admission to this country solely upon that ground.

Resolved, That it is the opinion of the Senate of the State of New York, that such bill be vetoed by the President, in the interest of American ideals and in the cause of justice to the worthy aliens who seek happiness in the United States; and be it further

Resolved, That a certified copy of this resolution be transmitted to his Excellency, the President of the United States.

The President presented the reply of the State Comptroller to the resolution introduced by Mr. Mills and adopted on February 8th, as follows:

To the Honorable, The Senate of the State of New York:

Gentlemen.—In seeking to comply with the resolution of Senator Mills requesting information in re corporation taxes assessed for the years 1909 to 1914, I find that compliance therewith involves examination of the details of approximately 150,000 accounts, with five questions to be answered regarding each account.

All the information desired in a matter of ledger and file record in this office and can be quickly furnished if applied to specific cases. It covers the work of twelve men engaged in the transactions of the Corporation Tax Bureau during five years preceding my entrance into this office.

Prompt reply to the request would only be possible if the facts asked for had been assembled from year to year in statistical form. No such statistics have been prepared, probably because they would not be of sufficient service to the State to warrant the expense they would entail.

It is my purpose to proceed at once to carry out the provisions of the resolution, unless otherwise directed by your honorable body.

Very truly yours,
(Signed) EUGENE M. TRAVIS,
Comptroller.

Said communication was referred to the committee on finance.

The Assembly sent for concurrence a resolution, in the words following:

Whereas, The frequent floods of the Mississippi river, caused by waters from thirty-one States, embracing more than 41 per cent. of the total area of the United States, result in great loss of human lives in portions of the States of Illinois, Tennessee, Kentucky, Mississippi, Missouri, Arkansas and Louisiana, and large money losses, not only in such afflicted territory, but in other portions of the nation; and

Whereas, It has been declared by every member of the engineer corps of the United States army who has dealt with such floods, by the Mississippi River Commission and by other commissions appointed by Congress, that such floods can be prevented at a reasonable cost; and

Whereas, The work of such flood prevention has been going on for many years in the least economical way and over two-thirds of the cost has been borne by the damaged section, who can no longer cope with this giant problem without effective aid from the National government; and

Whereas, All political parties have declared in their campaign platforms that flood control of the Mississippi river is a national duty; therefore

Mr. Spring, from the committee on labor and industries, reported said bill amended as directed, and the same was ordered reprinted and placed on the order of third reading.

Mr. Bennett offered a resolution, in the words following:

Whereas, The debt of New York city to-day is over $1,500,000,000, which sum is greater than the debt of the United States.

Whereas, It has been openly charged by a former comptroller of the city that the city has already incurred indebtedness in excess of the limitation imposed by the State Constitution which charge is apparently supported by the figures in the December 31, 1914, report of the present comptroller.

Whereas, If this charge is true every bond issued by the city hereafter will be void.

Whereas, The extravagant expenditure of public moneys in former days of which the State Capitol at Albany and the Tweed Court House in New York county, are the two most famous examples, are being rivalled, if not surpassed, by recent enterprises of New York city, such as the Manhattan bridge, originally estimated to cost $7,500,000 and actually costing $29,450,000; the Queensboro bridge, originally estimated to cost $11,000,000 and actually having cost $19,500,000 to date and still being uncompleted; the proposed new court house, the site for which was originally estimated to cost $3,000,000 but will actually cost $12,000,000; the Municipal building estimated to cost $10,000,000 but which has actually cost $18,000,000 and is still uncompleted, and the erection of which was undertaken on the plea that it would save office rent for the city, when as a matter of fact it has increased such expense from $900,000 to $1,900,000 per year.

Whereas, The officers of the city seem to be unable to stop spending money, but instead are searching for further sources of revenue from an already overtaxed community and have sent up to this Legislature for enactment numerous bills to create new city departments and to permit the city to embark on many new and dangerous enterprises, the sole purpose of which is to enable the city to spend the additional money which it is hoped to raise from the new sources of revenue.

Whereas, If the present policy of unlimited spending and unlimited borrowing is persisted in for a few years longer, the city will have to stop all further improvement.

Therefore, be it Resolved (if the Assembly concur), That a committee of nine be appointed to consist of five members of the Senate, to be appointed by the President of the Senate, and four members of the Assembly, to be appointed by the Speaker, to examine into the following matters:

1st. The finances of New York city and as to whether the city has already exceeded the constitutional debt limit.

2d. The method of accounting and bookkeeping in the office of the comptroller and the various departments of said city.

3d. The acts and administration of the board of estimate and apportionment and all of the offices of the city having to do with the finances of the city, the question as to whether the city needs legislation giving new sources of revenue, or whether it simply needs to stop spending; and into the question as to whether any of its departments can be eliminated or consolidated, and as to whether any changes should be made in the present form of government.

4th. Into the purposes for which bonds and corporate stock of said city have been issued, and are proposed to be issued and the purposes to which the proceeds of the bonds and corporate stock heretofore issued have been applied.

5th. Into all other financial matters connected with said city government for the purpose of drafting and reporting to the next Legislature such laws relating thereto as said committee may deem proper.

And be it further Resolved, That said committee is authorized to sit after the adjournment of the Legislature and outside of the city of Albany, and is hereby authorized and empowered to subpoena and enforce the attendance of witnesses, including public officers and public employees, and to require the production of books and papers, including any public record or document of the city or State of New York, or any of its officers and departments, to administer oaths, to employ counsel, a stenographer, an expert accountant and such other employees as may be necessary for the purpose of the investigation; and the actual and necessary expenses of the committee in carrying out the provisions of this resolution, not to exceed $25,000 shall be paid from the funds appropriated by the Legislature for the contingent expenses of said Legislature.
